

PLENARY AND SPECIAL LUNCH PANEL PARTICIPANTS' BIOGRAPHIES

> DAVID BARAGWANATH

After graduating from the universities of Auckland and Oxford, Judge Baragwanath began his career at the New Zealand bar and was appointed Queen's Counsel in 1983. He has prosecuted and defended major criminal cases including murder trials and complex fraud proceedings. Judge Baragwanath has sat as a judge of the High Court and the Court of Appeal of New Zealand, where he dealt with civil, criminal and international litigation. He has received visiting appointments at Cambridge, Queen Mary London and Hong Kong Universities, and the Netherlands Institute of Advanced Studies. He is an overseas bencher of the Inner Temple in London and was appointed to the Special Tribunal for Lebanon in March 2009. In 2010 Judge Baragwanath was made a knight companion of the New Zealand order of merit, in recognition of his services as a judge of the Court of Appeal of New Zealand.

> MONICA BOUMAN

Monica Bouman is a psychologist and independent researcher, based in The Netherlands. In 2001, she defended a multi-disciplinary thesis on the spirituality and political ethics of Dag Hammarskjöld at the Catholic University Nijmegen (now Radboud University). Publications include: Henning Melber and Carsten Stahn edit. 2014, Chapter 6, Dag Hammarskjöld and the Politics of Hope, and Dag Hammarskjöld, Citizen of the World, Kampen 2005.

> DAVID CONNOLLY

Dr. David Connolly is Head of the Conflict Prevention Program at The Hague Institute. He is formerly a research fellow and lecturer at the Post-war Reconstruction and Development Unit, University of York, 2005 – 2013. At York, he was the Director and co-founder of the MSc program in International Humanitarian Affairs, and Deputy Director of the Education in Conflict and Emergencies research program. Dr. Connolly trained as a Political Scientist and specializes in the institutions and processes of local governance during and after conflict. His interest spans the various roles that communities play in social, political and economic recovery, conflict resolution and early warning. Since 2000, he has conducted research in Afghanistan, Egypt, Indonesia, Kenya, Nepal, Northern Ireland, Sierra Leone, Somalia, South Sudan, Sri Lanka and Yemen. He has conducted and managed a range of applied research projects that have assessed and helped design strategic international programs and interventions. He has been commissioned by the World Bank, the government of Afghanistan, UNDP, Centre for Humanitarian Dialogue, CARE International, Oxfam, Save the Children and Mercy Corps, among others. Since 2009 he has completed a series of projects for UNICEF on the 'role of education in peace building' and he is currently a senior advisor on monitoring and evaluation. He has designed and led more than 30 capacity building workshops and professional development courses for UK Foreign and Commonwealth Office, UK Ministry of Defence, UNICEF, Rotary Foundation, Institute for International Political Studies, and the University of York.

> SAM DAWS

Sam Daws is Director of the Project on UN Governance and Reform at the Centre for International Studies of Oxford University, and has held a variety of UN-related roles over the last 25 years. He recently served as Deputy Director (UN, Prime Minister's Post-2015 Development Agenda team) in the UK Cabinet Office, and previously as Senior Principal Research Analyst in the Multilateral Policy Directorate of the Foreign and Commonwealth Office. From 2000 to 2003 Mr. Daws served as First Officer in the Executive Office of UN Secretary-General Kofi Annan. He became Executive Director of the United Nations Association (UK) in 2004, and then Senior Advisor and UK Representative to the UN Foundation. Mr. Daws has degrees in Social Anthropology and International Conflict Analysis and undertook doctoral studies in International Relations at Oxford. He has been a Visiting Fellow at Cambridge in international law and at Yale in UN studies, and is an alumnus of the Sir John Cass Business School, City University and London Business School, where he took courses in foundation asset management, grant-making, social investment and philanthropy. He has served on the boards of a number of non-profit organisations including ACUNS. He also directs a consultancy company, 3D Strategy.

> MARY FARRELL

Mary Farrell is Professor in International Relations at the University of Plymouth. She was previously Reader in European and International Politics, and Jean Monnet Chair in the School of Humanities and Social Sciences at the University of Greenwich (London, UK), where she was programme leader for the MA International Relations. She was educated in Ireland, and received her PhD from London School of Economics. She has extensive experience of teaching in universities in Europe, Africa, and Asia, with a particular focus on global governance, development studies, comparative regionalism, and the role of the United Nations in peace and security. Professor Farrell is an international expert on the inter-connection between global and regional governance systems, and is currently working on a research project addressing the place of Africa in the international system. She has published widely on issues relating to international development policy, the role of international organizations in global governance, inter-regional cooperation and Africa-EU relations, and the European Union in the United Nations. She is a participant in several international research projects and networks, and acts as a consultant to the European Commission and national scientific bodies on research funding evaluation and project reviews.

> MANUEL FRÖHLICH

Manuel Fröhlich is Professor of International Organizations and Globalization at Friedrich-Schiller-University, Jena (Germany). He also serves as a board member of the German United Nations Association and its Research Council. He is co-editor of the German Journal of Political Science (Zeitschrift für Politikwissenschaft) as well as the book series The United Nations and Global Change (Nomos). Manuel Fröhlich has published several books and articles i.a. on the United Nations, Global Governance, the transformation of peace operations and sovereignty as well as the political philosophy of international relations and world organization – topics that have been with him since his dissertation on the Political Ethics of UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld (Routledge). He currently heads a research project on the work of Special Representatives of the UN Secretary-General (SRSGs) that includes the establishment of a comprehensive database on SRSG assignments since the foundation of the UN.

> DES GASPER

Des Gasper (1953) is Professor of States, Societies and World Development at the International Institute of Social Studies (ISS) of Erasmus University Rotterdam. In his research he seeks to combine and connect human development, development ethics, and public policy.

> MAJA GROFF

Maja Groff is a Senior Legal Officer at the Permanent Bureau, and has worked with the Hague Conference since 2008. Ms. Groff's primary responsibilities focus on Hague Conventions which address the cross-border protection of vulnerable adults (the Hague 2000 Convention) and the cross-border recovery of family maintenance (the Hague 2007 Convention), the International Hague Network of Judges, Information Technology solutions to support Hague children's Conventions, and work on potential new Conventions or international co-operation mechanisms in the areas of the recognition and enforcement of foreign civil protection orders and the facilitation of access to foreign law. She conducts liaison work with professional bodies and other international organisations and has played a key role in the co-ordination of international conferences and experts groups. She holds two law degrees, a Bachelor in Civil Law and a Bachelor in Common Law from McGill University (with Great Distinction), as well as degrees from Harvard University (A.B., magna cum laude, with Honors) and Oxford University (M.Sc., with Distinction). She has studied at Sciences Po, Paris (Master de Droit Économique), completed advanced professional training in international humanitarian law, and has studied and worked in international criminal law. Ms. Groff has extensive experience in multicultural settings and has completed training and fieldwork in international development. She has participated in a number of United Nations negotiations for various governmental and non-governmental actors.

> LEO DE HAAN

Leo J. de Haan (1950) is now Rector of ISS in The Hague (Netherlands) - the International Institute of Social Studies (ISS) of Erasmus University Rotterdam - and Professor of Development Studies. His current research interests are the developmental state and the conceptualization of rural and urban livelihoods; international and national migration patterns resulting in the multi-locality of livelihoods; and the multi-dimensionality of poverty in the Global South. His previous research focused on the commercialization of agriculture, environmental management, pastoral livelihoods and resource conflicts among peasants and pastoralists, with an emphasis on Africa. Leo J. de Haan is the former Director of the African Studies Centre (ASC), Leiden and Professor of Development in Sub-Saharan Africa at Leiden University. Before directing ASC Leiden he was Professor of Development Studies at Radboud University Nijmegen and Director of the Third World Centre, which he converted into the Centre for International Development Issues Nijmegen (CIDIN).

> SUKEHIRO HASEGAWA

Sukehiro Hasegawa is Professor of the Faculty of Law, Hosei University, Tokyo. He served as Special Representative of the Secretary-General for Timor-Leste and as Head of the United Nations Mission of Support in East Timor (UNMISSET), the United Nations Office in Timor-Leste (UNOTIL), and the United Nations Mission in Timor-Leste (UNMIT) from May 2004 to September 2006. He held senior positions within UNDP, UNV, and United Nations peacekeeping operations. He was Deputy Resident Representative of UNDP in Nepal, from 1978 to 1980, and in Indonesia, from 1980 to 1984. He later served as UNDP Resident Representative and Resident Coordinator of the United Nations operational activities for development in Samoa, the Cook Islands, Niue and Tokelau. In 1993, he managed the United Nations Volunteer electoral supervisors assigned to plan and administer general elections in Cambodia. In April 1994, he was appointed Director of Policy and Planning of the United Nations peacekeeping operation in Somalia, and in January 1995, he became the United Nations Resident Coordinator in Rwanda. He subsequently served as the Deputy Assistant Administrator and Deputy Regional Director for Asia and the Pacific at UNDP in New York. From July 2002 to May 2004, he served as the United Nations Resident Coordinator for Timor-Leste, and concurrently as Deputy Special Representative of the Secretary-General for Timor-Leste and Deputy Head of UNMISSET. Dr. Hasegawa is a member of the Board of Directors of Japan Association of United Nations, and a Goodwill Ambassador of the Democratic Republic of Timor-Leste and served as Special Advisor to President José Ramos-Horta from 2006 to 2012.

> DAISAKU HIGASHI

Daisaku Higashi is Associate Professor in the University of Tokyo. He worked for NHK, Japan Public TV station as a program director from 1993 to 2004 and produced a numerous TV documentaries, including Rebuilding Iraq: Challenges of the United Nations which received the silver medal from UN Correspondents Association in 2004. He then completed his MA and Ph.D in Political Science at the University of British Columbia in Canada. He consulted on Afghan policies with top government officials in both Japan and the United States. He also worked for United Nations Assistance Mission in Afghanistan (UNAMA) from 2009 to 2010 as a team leader for reconciliation and reintegration, stationing in Kabul. He also served as a Minister-Counsellor in the Permanent Mission of Japan to the UN from 2012 to 2014, directing the activities of Peace Building Commission (PBC) as a part of exchange program between the University of Tokyo and Ministry of Foreign Affairs. His publication includes Challenges of Constructing Legitimacy in Peacebuilding: Afghanistan, Iraq, Sierra Leone and East Timor (Routledge 2015), Peacebuilding (Heiwa Kouchiku) (Iwanami Press 2009), and Why did we go to the war: dialogue of former enemies in the Vietnam War (Heibonsha Library 2010).

> SHYAMIKA JAYASUNDARA

Shyamika Jayasundara is a researcher in Political Science, specialised in critical Peace and Conflict studies. She has 12 years of work experience (both teaching and research). She is interested in exploring issues related to peace, conflict and global governance. Her previous research projects have examined a number of topics in the broader areas of conflict, peace state building and politics. So far, she has taken a keen interest in exploring the domestic political-economic factors perpetuating civil wars and politics of peace building and state building. For many of her previous research projects, she has conducted fieldwork in Sri Lanka.

> SASH JAYAWARDANE

Sash Jayawardane is originally from Colombo, Sri Lanka. She holds a Bachelor's degree in Political Science from Yale University and a Master's degree in Conflict Studies and Human Rights from the University of Utrecht. Prior to joining The Hague Institute, Sash worked for the Office of the Prosecutor at the United Nations International Criminal Tribunal for the Former Yugoslavia in The Hague on the Perisic case. Her work at the UN ICTY focused on the analysis of evidence pertaining to the individual criminal responsibility of General Perisic for crimes committed in Sarajevo and Srebrenica. Sash's previous research experience includes work on the perpetration of sexual violence during armed conflicts and the repertoires of violence employed by armed groups (Yale University); as well as the phenomenon of impunity in illiberal states (Impunity Watch). Sash's current work at The Hague Institute focuses on the reform of institutions and policies for good global governance, with a particular focus on cyberspace; and the role of gender in transitional justice processes.

> MARGARET KARNS

Margaret P. Karns is Professor Emerita of Political Science at the University of Dayton, first director of the International Studies Program, and the founding director of the University of Dayton's Center for International Programs from 1983 to 1995. With Karen Mingst of the University of Kentucky she has published three books: International Organizations: The Politics and Processes of Global Governance (2nd ed., 2010), The United States and Multilateral Institutions: Patterns of Instrumentality and Influence (1990) and The United Nations in the Post-Cold War Era (4th ed., 2012) as well as numerous articles on the United States and the United Nations, UN peacekeeping, the roots of post-conflict peacebuilding, global governance, and the future of the UN system.

During 1995-96, Professor Karns was Visiting Professor of International Relations at the John Hopkins University-Nanjing University Center for Chinese and American Studies in Nanjing, China. She returned to Asia in 1998 to teach a training course on "Multilateral Diplomacy and the United Nations System" for Vietnamese officials at The Institute of International Relations in Hanoi and again in May 2006 to lecture and serve as a consultant to the International Studies program at National University of Vietnam in Hanoi. In April 2007, she co-taught a workshop for thirty Vietnamese faculty in international relations on "International Relations since the Cold War's End" with Professor Karen Mingst. Since moving to North Andover, MA in 2012, Professor Karns has become an External Faculty Fellow of the Center on Governance and Sustainability at the University of Massachusetts Boston.

> SHIN-WHA LEE

Shin-wha Lee, Professor of the Department of Political Science and International Relations, Korea University, received her Ph.D from the University of Maryland at College and held a Post-Doctoral Fellowship at Harvard University. She was a research associate at the World Bank, a special advisor to UN Secretary General Kofi Annan's Rwandan Independent Inquiry, Chair's advisor of East Asian Vision Group (EAVG), a visiting scholar at East Asian Studies Program, Princeton University, a full-time visiting professor at School of International and Public Affairs (SIPA), Columbia University, executive committee member of Academic Council on the UN Studies (ACUNS), international board member of GR: EEN (Global Re-ordering: Evolution through European Networks), and vice president for international affairs at Korea University. She received Nakasone Yasuhiro Award of Excellence in 2008 and is an international advisory member of Asia-Pacific Center for Responsibility to Protect. She is currently an international advisory committee member of Peacebuilding Fund (PBF) at the UN Headquarters. Her numerous publications cover the fields of global security including UN PKO and humanitarian intervention, and East Asian foreign policy and multilateral security cooperation.

> DONGYAN LI

Dongyan Li (李东燕) is a Senior Researcher at the Institute of World Economics and Politics (IWEP), Chinese Academy of Social Sciences (CASS). She received a bachelor degree from the Department of International Politics, Peking University in 1983 a master degree from the China University of Political Science and Law in 1986. Her research focuses on UN and international conflict resolution, now a head of the project team on global governance CASS, and also a professor of international politics at the Graduate School of CASS.

> ZHIXIAN LIU

Zhixian Liu (刘志贤) is currently Vice-President and Director-General of the United Nations Association of China and Secretary-General of China Academic Network for UN Studies (CANUNS). He also serves as Chinese Expert for the United Nations Secretary-General's Mechanism for Investigation of Alleged Use of Chemical and Biological Weapons. He once worked in the Chinese Embassy in Fiji and the Chinese Mission to the United Nations Office and Other International Organizations in Geneva. He served as Deputy Director and then Director of the Department of International Organizations and Conferences of the Chinese Foreign Ministry, as Counselor in the Chinese Embassy in the Netherlands, as Deputy Permanent Representative to the Organization for the Prohibition of Chemical Weapons (OPCW), as Deputy Director-General of the Department of Arms Control of the Chinese Foreign Ministry and later as Director of External Relations of OPCW in the Netherlands. He graduated from the Beijing Foreign Studies University and later from the Graduate Institute of International and Development Studies in Geneva.

> DAVID MALONE

Dr. David M. Malone joined the United Nations University on 1 March 2013 as its sixth Rector. In that role, he holds the rank of Under-Secretary-General of the United Nations. Prior to joining the United Nations University Dr. David Malone served (2008-2013) as President of Canada's International Development Research Centre, a funding agency that supports policy-relevant research in the developing world. Dr. Malone previously served as Canada's Representative to the UN Economic and Social Council and as Ambassador and Deputy Permanent Representative of Canada to the United Nations (1990-1994); as Director General of the Policy, International Organizations and Global Issues Bureaus within Canada's Department of Foreign Affairs and International Trade (DFAIT, 1994-1998); as President of the International Peace Academy (now International Peace Institute), a New York-based independent research and policy development institution (1998-2004); as DFAIT Assistant Deputy Minister for Global Issues (2004-2006); and as Canada's High Commissioner to India, and non-resident Ambassador to Bhutan and Nepal (2006-2008). Dr. Malone also has held research posts at the Economic Studies Program, Brookings Institution; Massey College, University of Toronto; and Norman Paterson School of International Affairs, Carleton University.

> FRANCESCO MANCINI

Francesco Mancini is Non-resident Senior Adviser at the International Peace Institute (IPI), where he was previously Senior Director of Research. His work focuses on geostrategic analysis, multilateral diplomacy, global governance, armed conflicts and the means to prevent and solve them. He is an Adjunct Associate Professor at the Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy in Singapore, where he teaches negotiation and conflict resolution, and at Columbia University's School of International and Public Affairs (SIPA), where he teaches conflict assessment. He is also a member of the Board of Directors of the Academic Council on the United Nations System (ACUNS), a member of the Research Committee of the Institute for Economics & Peace (IEP), and a member of the Editorial Board of the journal Peacebuilding.

> HENNING MELBER

Henning Melber is Senior Adviser and Director Emeritus. He has served as Senior Lecturer in International Relations at Kassel University, Director of the Namibian Economic Policy Research Unit in Windhoek, and Research Director of the Nordic Africa Institute in Uppsala. Henning is an Extraordinary Professor at the University of Pretoria and at the Centre for Africa Studies of the University of the Free State in Bloemfontein. Henning directed the Foundation from 2000 to 2012. He holds a PhD in Political Sciences and Development Studies.

> THOMAS POGGE

Thomas Pogge is Director of the Global Justice Program and the Leitner Professor of Philosophy and International Affairs at Yale University. Having received his Ph.D. in philosophy from Harvard, Thomas Pogge has published widely on Kant and in moral and political philosophy, including various books on Rawls and global justice. In addition to his Yale appointment, he is the Research Director of the Centre for the Study of the Mind in Nature at the University of Oslo, a Professorial Research Fellow at the Centre for Applied Philosophy and Public Ethics, and Adjunct Professor of Political Philosophy at the Centre for Professional Ethics of the University of Central Lancashire.

> PETER SAWCZAK

Peter Sawczak is Head of Government Relations and Political Affairs at the OPCW. He was previously Senior Adviser on international security to the Australian Minister for Foreign Affairs. Sawczak has extensive experience in arms control issues, having served as Director of Counter-Proliferation at the Australian Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade and on diplomatic postings to Washington, Brussels and Moscow.

> NICO SCHRIJVER

Nico Schrijver is Professor of International Law and Academic Director of the Grotius Centre for International Legal Studies, Leiden University and a member of the Senate of the Dutch house of parliament. In the Senate he is the Labour Party's spokesperson on Foreign Affairs, Development Co-operation, Agriculture and Immigration and serves as the vice-chair of the Senate Committee on European Affairs. Schrijver is also visiting professor of The European Union and Co-operation with Developing Countries at the Universite libre de Bruxelles and the Institute of Law of the Chinese Academy of Social Sciences. He is also a member of the Royal Netherlands Academy of Arts and Sciences and the chairperson of its Section on Legal Sciences. During 2010-2012 he served as the President of the worldwide International Law Association.

> NANETTE SVENSON

With over 20 years of experience in international development, Nanette is an adjunct professor at Tulane University and consultant for the United Nations and other international organizations. She helped establish the United Nations Development Programme Regional Centre for Latin America and the Caribbean and headed its research and knowledge management efforts for four years. She has held managerial positions in private sector service firms, as well, and is co-founder of Pro Artesana, Panama's first non-governmental organization dedicated to local artisan capacity building. Her education includes a Ph.D in International Development from Tulane; an MBA from IESE in Barcelona; and a BA from Stanford. She teaches at graduate and undergraduate levels; conducts research, program evaluations and capacity assessments; and publishes in academic and development journals. Nanette is based in Panama and her research focuses on capacity development, particularly in relation to higher education programs.

> RAMESH THAKUR

Professor Ramesh Thakur is Director of the Centre for Nuclear Non-Proliferation and Disarmament (CNND) in the Crawford School, The Australian National University. He was Vice Rector and Senior Vice-Rector of the United Nations University (and Assistant Secretary-General of the United Nations) from 1998–2007. Educated in India and Canada, he was a Professor of International Relations at the University of Otago in New Zealand and Professor and Head of the Peace Research Centre at the Australian National University, during which time he was also a consultant/adviser to the Australian and New Zealand governments on arms control, disarmament and international security issues.

> CHRISTINE BARONESS VAN DEN WYNGAERT

Judge, International Criminal Court as of 11 March 2009, for a term of nine years. Assigned to the Trial Division. Elected from the Western European and Others Group of States. PhD in International Criminal Law (1979). Professor of law at the University of Antwerp (1985 - 2005) where she taught criminal law, criminal procedure, comparative criminal law and international criminal law; Visiting Fellow at the University of Cambridge, Centre for European Legal Studies (1994 - 1996), Research Centre for International Law (1996 -1997)) and a visiting professor at the Law Faculty of the University of Stellenbosch, South Africa. She has received Doctorates Honoris Causa, University of Uppsala, Sweden (2001); University of Brussels, Belgium (2010); Case Western Reserve University, USA (2013); and Maastricht University, The Netherlands, (2013). Judge van den Wyngaert was an observer of the Human Rights League at the trial of Helen Passtoors in Johannesburg in 1986 and made human rights a focal point in her teachings and writings throughout her career. In 2006, she was awarded the Prize of the Human Rights League. Judge Van den Wyngaert gained expertise in various governmental organisations. She was a member of the Criminal Procedure Reform Commission in Belgium (Commission Franchimont) (1991 - 1998) and served as an expert for the European Union in various criminal law projects. She has extensive international judicial experience. She served in the International Court of Justice as an ad hoc judge in the Arrest Warrant Case (2000 - 2002) and was elected as a judge in the International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia where she served for more than five years (2003 - 2009). In 2013, the Flemish Government awarded her a golden medal for her achievements in international criminal law. In 2014, she was elected Vice President of the International Association of Penal Law. Judge Van den Wyngaert was granted the title of Baroness by the King of Belgium for her merits as an academic and as an international judge.

LYNNE RIENNER PUBLISHERS

> STEVEN VAN HOOGSTRATEN

Steven van Hoogstraten is the General Director of the Carnegie Foundation (Peace Palace) and Treasurer of the Hague Academy of International Law. He is a practitioner with a high interest in the political and international environment of his work. He worked for the Ministry of Foreign Affairs in Brussels at the Netherlands Permanent Representation to the EU, was head of the European legal desk at the Ministry of Agriculture, was a director of Food Policy and Product Safety at the Ministry of Health, and a Deputy DG at the Ministry of Justice involved in international cooperation. In that last capacity, he was charged inter alia with the justice aspects of The Netherlands' policy on narcotic drugs. Van Hoogstraten was a Vice Chair of the UN body for food law – the Codex Alimentarius – at the Ministry of Health. Since 2002 Steven van Hoogstraten is working in the Peace Palace, as host to the International Court of Justice and the Permanent Court of Arbitration. His mandate involves all managerial aspects of running and extending of a national monument, and centre stage involvement in the ambitions of The Hague as the legal capital of the World. In that connection he is a board member of the Hague Academic Coalition, a cooperative framework of academic institutions in The Hague.

> ABIODUN WILLIAMS

Abiodun Williams is the President of The Hague Institute for Global Justice. Previously, he was the senior vice president of the Center for Conflict Analysis and Prevention at the United States Institute of Peace. He also served as the Associate Dean of the Africa Center for Strategic Studies at the National Defense University. From 2001 to 2007, he served as director of strategic planning in the Office of the United Nations Secretary-General. In that capacity, he advised Secretaries-General Kofi Annan and Ban Ki-moon on a full range of strategic issues including U.N. reform, conflict prevention, peace building and international migration. He held political and humanitarian affairs positions in U.N. peacekeeping missions in Bosnia and Herzegovina, Haiti, and Macedonia from 1994 to 2000.

> SUSAN WILLIAMS

Susan Williams is a Senior Fellow at the Institute of Commonwealth Studies, School of Advanced Study, University of London. Her widely acclaimed book, Who Killed Hammarskjöld? The UN, the Cold War and White Supremacy in Africa (Hurst 2011) led to the establishment in 2012 of the independent Hammarskjöld Commission, for which she served as historical adviser. Other publications include, Colour Bar: The Triumph of Seretse Khama and His Nation (Penguin 2006); The People's King: The True Story of the Abdication (Penguin 2003); and The Iconography of Independence: 'Freedoms at Midnight' (Routledge 2009).

> JAN WOUTERS

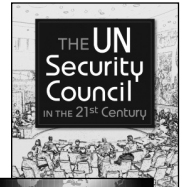

Jan Wouters is Full Professor of International Law and International Organizations, and founding Director of the Institute for International Law and of the Leuven Centre for Global Governance Studies, an interdisciplinary centre of excellence, at the University of Leuven (KU Leuven). In Leuven, he teaches public international law, law of international organizations, and the law of the World Trade Organization, space law and international humanitarian law. As Visiting Professor at Sciences Po (Paris), Luiss University (Rome) and the College of Europe (Bruges) he teaches EU external relations law. He is a Member of the Royal Academy of Belgium for Sciences and Arts, is President of the Flemish Foreign Affairs Council and the United Nations Association Flanders Belgium, and practises law as Of Counsel at Linklaters, Brussels.

FORTHCOMING!

The UN Security Council in the 21st Century

SEBASTIAN VON EINSIEDEL, DAVID M. MALONE, AND BRUNO STAGNO UGARTE, EDITORS

"This is likely to be a cornerstone of the scholarly literature on the United Nations... An essential volume."—David Cortright, University of Notre Dame • hc $85 • pb $35
A Project of the International Peace Institute

NEW—5TH EDITION!

The Politics of Global Governance: International Organizations in an Interdependent World

BRIAN FREDERKING AND PAUL F. DIEHL, EDITORS

"Excellent... [This] may be the best contemporary reader for advanced undergraduate classes in international governmental organizations."—Philip Meeks, Perspectives on Political Science • pb $27.50

NEW—3RD EDITION!

International Organizations: The Politics and Processes of Global Governance

MARGARET P. KARNs, KAREN A. MINGST, AND KENDALL W. STILES

"An extraordinary primer for any student of international relations... This book collates and masterfully illustrates the varied processes that drive contemporary international organizations."—UN21 Newsletter, ASIL • pb $37.50

Why Peace Processes Fail:

Negotiating Insecurity After Civil War

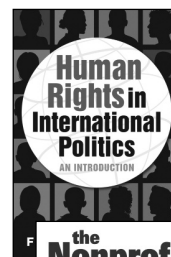

JASMINE-KIM WESTENDORF

"Westendorf offers an important framework for analyzing prospects for state building by the international community."—Desha M. Girod, Georgetown University • hc $65

Human Rights in International Politics: An Introduction

FRANKE WILMER

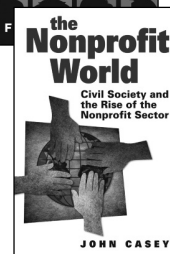

A clear, comprehensive introduction to the study of human rights in international politics, blending concrete developments with theoretical inquiry. • hc $78.50 • pb $35

The Nonprofit World: Civil Society and the Rise of the Nonprofit Sector

JOHN CASEY

"Offers an impressive combination of comprehensiveness and detailed examples that bring to life the dynamic nature of the nonprofit sector(s)."—Carola Weil, American University • hc $75 • pb $28.50
A Kumarian Press Book

CELEBRATING 31 YEARS OF INDEPENDENT PUBLISHING
TEL: 303-444-6684 • FAX: 303-444-0824 • www.rienner.com