Generation 2030: Students' and Young Professionals' Insights on the SDGs

The International Institute for Sustainable Development's SDG Knowledge Hub (<http://sdg.iisd.org/>) provides an unparalleled view of multilateral, national and sub-national efforts to achieve the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). Each week, we publish original news stories, event posts, policy briefs and guest articles regarding SDG implementation activities around the world.

Our new "Generation 2030" column will feature blog postings from students and young professionals focused on their perspectives and insights into lessons learned and linkages among the SDGs.

We invite students and young professionals to propose short (700-900 words) blog posts to be published on the SDG Knowledge Hub. Well-written articles focused on SDG implementation case studies or reviews of implementation data related to one or more of the SDGs are especially encouraged.
